The EU Textiles Product Passport Conference 2026 is the first dedicated conference covering readiness, technology and opportunity for the introduction of the DPP regulations in textiles expected in 2027.

Mandatory DPPs for textiles are expected to be introduced in 2027 meaning consumers, retailers, recyclers and regulators can scan a code to access detailed sustainability, traceability, and lifecycle data, boosting transparency, circularity and resource efficiency in the textile value chain.

Welcoming hundreds of senior level decision makers with responsibility for strategic compliance and product development, the EU Textiles Product Passport Conference 2026 will provide the perfect setting to explore DPP regulation, technology and opportunity specifically for the textiles sector.

Featuring a full conference agenda of keynote presentations, panels, break out technical tracks and workshops

Network with your industry colleagues to plan and prepare as we enter the preparatory phase for Textiles DPP introduction.
